Learn to lead at the intersection of business and healthcare.

About Our Program

Become a critical thinker and innovative leader who can execute change in the healthcare system through Weatherhead School of Management's online MBA in Healthcare Management. Our program offers evidence-based, business management skills development for healthcare professionals—at any stage of their career—who aspire to a high-level leadership role. The program also welcomes anyone new to healthcare and who wants to build a strong foundation for a successful career focused on improving the well-being of both individuals and society.

Our program is structured to provide a sophisticated understanding of finance, accounting and business strategy as they relate to the healthcare industry. Through synchronous and asynchronous online coursework and two in-person residencies over long weekends, you'll gain a full understanding of how data can be used to improve organizational performance—and then develop the skills you need to turn that information into action.

Two Curriculum Cores

By blending MBA and healthcare core courses, our online program's curriculum is designed to create future leaders in the growing field of healthcare management.

Cutting-edge, multidisciplinary coursework from Case Western Reserve's renowned business, medical, law and engineering schools is coupled with learning opportunities in collaboration with Cleveland Clinic, MetroHealth, Louis Stokes Cleveland Veterans Administration Medical Center and University Hospitals. This provides you the opportunity to acquire a network of regional and national connections in the healthcare sector that will help you stand out in today's complex environment.

Learning That Fits Your Lifestyle

Our online MBA in Healthcare Management is a high-touch program that supports both your learning and your lifestyle. In addition to a 50/50 blend of self-paced coursework and live virtual classes, you'll enjoy experiential education through two in-person residencies.

Asynchronous Learning

Outside of real-time, virtual classroom experiences, you will complete classwork—or asynchronous learning modules—each week in preparation for your live classes. Our learning modules consist of high-quality, studio-produced video content and graphics that you complete on your own time—offering you full flexibility.

Synchronous Learning

During live, virtual classes, you'll collaborate with faculty and peers through meaningful discourse in an engaging and professional learning environment. Live chat and presentation features allow you to ask questions, share insights and get feedback in real time. Online office hours, peer networking, discussion boards and group work are also available.

Residencies

Residencies are a unique part of our online MBA. You'll participate in two residencies over long weekends to explore differences in culture, organization and operations among major health systems. You will also build practical knowledge and immediately applicable skills, participate in networking events and socialize with your peers.

Essential Support Systems

As an online student, you'll have access to resources, services and experiences to support you. A student support coach will help navigate and guide your experience throughout the program, and 24/7 tech support is available to ensure you always stay connected and informed.

Tech Resources

Canvas is the learning management system at Case Western Reserve, providing you with a simple and collaborative space for course content, assignments, tests and grading. You will use Zoom to access your live classes, and tech support is available 24/7.

Student Support Coach

As an online MBA student, you have a student support coach who provides guidance from matriculation through graduation. You can count on your coach to help with proactive academic success planning and goal setting and also serve as your university liaison.

Career Services

At Weatherhead School of Management, we maintain close ties with alumni and employers across Ohio, the nation and the world. You'll have access to a wide array of resources, networking opportunities, support and guidance to prepare you for the next phase of your career.

Our Faculty

When it comes to today's business trends, the faculty at Case Western Reserve's Weatherhead School of Management don't just facilitate the conversation—they lead it. Our award-winning faculty bring business analysis, critical thinking, entrepreneurship, innovation and real-world experience together to arm you with the holistic knowledge and skills you need to navigate change and lead your organization forward.

Career Opportunities

The healthcare landscape is growing increasingly complex as providers struggle to improve the quality and efficiency of their operations. While there are more than 18 million people working in the healthcare industry, the number of physicians employed by hospitals has surpassed the number of those in private practice over the past decade. With this shift, the industry's desire to hire professionals with both a science background and strong management skills has been on the rise. In fact, managerial and leadership skills have never been as important to the success of healthcare organizations as they are today.
